And as reported by Bloomberg, the fervor continued even after the event ended. Aurora CEO Daniel Ek, who oversees Spotify, was among the most vocal. "I've heard the 'What's he wearing?' complaints way too many times. It's like someone asking, 'Why do you want to celebrate Apple?'" Ek told Quartz. "There's a reason why he's the world's most valuable businessperson. We want to celebrate him because of that." Ek is not alone in thinking that Jobs is the most valuable businessperson in the world. One recent study found that the company has the highest "cult-like" following of any company on the planet. And while many people think he is the father of the modern Apple smartphone, Jobs did not start the firm; Steve Wozniak did. Indeed, the Apple culture has a complex chain of influences. While Jobs was undoubtedly an important part of the Apple story, his role was not the sole reason for its success. But Ek, along with many other high-profile
